March for Marriage

The second March for Marriage will be held in Washington, D.C. on June 19th. This year's march will be an important opportunity to promote and defend the beauty of marriage as the unique two-in-one-flesh communion of husband and wife. In an April 7th letter sent to all the bishops of the U.S., Bishop Richard J. Malone, chairman of the USCCB Committee on Laity, Marriage, Family Life and Youth, and Archbishop Salvatore J. Cordileone, encouraged participation in the march. Check out the website www.marriagemarch.org for details.

Praying PACEM IN TERRIS

Finally, we are confronted in this modern age with a form of society which is evolving on entirely new social and political lines. Since all peoples have either attained political independence or are on the way to attaining it, soon no nation will rule over another and none will be subject to an alien power. Thus all over the world men are either the citizens of an independent State, or are shortly to become so; nor is any nation nowadays content to submit to foreign domination. The longstanding inferiority complex of certain classes because of their economic and social status, sex, or position in the State, and the corresponding superiority complex of other classes, is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Archdiocesan Pastoral Plan

Archbishop Gregory has selected four multi-dimensional issues that will be the focus of the next steps in the pastoral planning process (the first step was the Archdiocesan survey):
Knowing Our Faith-There is a huge need and hunger for more effective and available catechesis and faith formation to help all ages to understand, accept and apply the church's teachings to their everyday lives. Living Our Faith-Knowing our faith is not enough-we must live it too! In a recent homily, Pope Francis pointed out that early Christians were easily recognized because of how they lived their lives-which differed greatly from the society surrounding them. Living a Catholic life in today's secular society can be just as countercultural. Spreading/Keeping Our Faith-Popes from Pope Paul VI to Pope Francis have called the faithful to take up the work of the New Evangelization which consists of teaching the faith through preaching, catechesis and all forms of Catholic education, in celebrating the faith in the Sacraments and in prayer and in living the faith. Evolution of Our Parishes-Progress on the first three issues listed above is not possible without strong, motivated parishes throughout the Archdiocese of Atlanta. Although each parish is unique, they also share common challenges brought by growth and increasing diversity. In a separate letter to pastors, Archbishop Gregory will be requesting that each parish provide three recommendations for each of these four issues by no later than August 1, 2014. These parish recommendations will be presented to the Convocation of Priests in September and to each of the Deanery-Level Final Recommendation meetings that will be held in the fall.
